SUMMARY OF APPROACH

Alliance Trust aims to be a core equity holding for investors that delivers a real return over the long term through a combination of capital growth and a rising dividend. The Trust invests primarily in global equities across a wide range of industries and sectors to achieve its objective.

The Trust's investment manager, Willis Towers Watson, has appointed a number of stock pickers with different styles, who each ignore the benchmark and only buy a small number of stocks in which they have strong conviction. Investors therefore get the benefit of both highly focused stock picking to increase potential outperformance versus the benchmark and manager diversification to reduce risk and volatility. The Trust's diversified but highly active multi-manager portfolio is competitively priced.

Risk warnings

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future returns. The value of shares and the income from them can rise and fall, so investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Net Asset Value ("NAV") performance is not the same as share price performance and investors may not realise returns the same as NAV performance. Exchange rate changes may cause the value of overseas investments to go down as well as up and can impact on both the level of income received and capital value of your investment. Investment trusts may borrow to finance further investment (gearing). The use of gearing is likely to lead to volatility in the NAV, meaning that a relatively small movement, down or up, in the value of a trust's assets will result in a magnified movement, in the same direction, of that NAV. This may mean that you could get back less than you invested or nothing at all.

INVESTMENT COMMENTARY

For the month of November, the Trust's total shareholder return and NAV total return were 4.6% and 4.0% respectively, outperforming the benchmark MSCI All Country World Index (ACWI) which returned 2.5%.

A significant contributor to performance in November was Qorvo Inc., a US-based semiconductor company that provides solutions for wireless and broadband communications. Share prices increased after the company posted quarterly results that topped analysts' expectations, and Qorvo announced a $1 billion buyback program. Another strong contributor to performance was Microsoft, with its shares benefitting from the announcement of the company's cloud business, Azure, being awarded the Pentagon's $10 billion cloud JEDI contract, edging out rival AWS. Within the Trust's portfolio, a position was initiated in Weir Group, a global engineering and manufacturing company for industrial end markets, headquartered in Glasgow. Weir Group partners with its clients to increase resource efficiency, operate more safely, and improve environmental impact and outcomes.

Year to date, the NAV and Shareholder returns are 20.7% and 21.3% outperforming the benchmark which returned 20.4%. The performance over 2019 was supported by the strong momentum in Microsoft as well as New Oriental, a leading provider of tutoring services in China. New Oriental has posted impressive growth over the past year, benefiting from classroom expansions and strong increases in student enrolment. An area of recent strength has been its Overseas Testing segment, which has benefited from reforms that management has made to their offering to cater to younger students. The Trust outperformed the benchmark by 1% in terms of shareholder returns and 0.9% in terms of NAV total returns, since 1 April 2017, when Willis Towers Watson took over management of the portfolio.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future returns. The mention of any specific shares should not be taken as a recommendation to deal.
